

"I want to get the salesy away from my sales and find the true connection with my clients. I need to replace random acts of faceless marketing to constant, planned and systematised way of marketing"

" I desperately long for that connection with my higher self, my divine to assist me strive effortlessly and without the fear of failing or not doing it right."

"I want to have the support I need to become a success I am meant to be and to create the life that I want. I cannot do it alone, nor I want to. Its time for me to step up my game and move forward."

WHO YOU ARE

You may not know intellectually what it means yet, but you certainly can feel it. You are a heart-centered entrepreneur. You are done and over with the cold calling and marketing the old way. You are really good in what you do and most often, the thing you do is completely unique and you have created it yourself. It is your divine gift and you can feel the call in your heart. You could not step away from your calling even if you wanted to. You are here to serve and to help others and to share a gift given uniquely to you.

WHAT MAKES YOU WORRY

Your business is created to bring your purpose alive, but on a bad day you ponder whether you have made the right decision by becoming an entrepreneur. You have had breakthroughs and wonderful moments and experiences when you made your leap to become an entrepreneur, but you really didn't know how everything would play out. In fact you are still searching for an easier way to be an entrepreneur, easier ways to do marketing, get clients and make money. You are still trying to find your feet in the entrepreneurial world and you sometimes hesitate to move forward.

Despite of questioning your decision every once in a while, deep down you know, you couldn't live any other way. It has been somewhat surprising to you, that you are not the only one raising questions about your choice having your own business. Occasionally you might get that from your friends an family as well. That causes you to doubt yourself and wonder if you are doing something wrong. - especially because the money and the clients are not quite there yet.

This incongruence with your heart's desire and the results you have gotten eat your self confidence, and you are not quite sure why things are not happening for you the way they seem to happen for the entrepreneurs around you.

THIS IS WHAT YOU NEED TO HEAR

You are in the right place, doing exactly what your inner guidance has told you to do. You have listened well and you can applaud yourself for doing that. It tells me, that you have come a long way already. Life of an Entrepreneur isn't always easy, and us Entrepreneurs often take pride in that "struggle", but I am here to tell you, that the path of an Entrepreneur is not a struggle because it has to be, it's a struggle because we choose it to be. With that understanding comes a choice. A possibility to choose another way. That is my unique gift I am here to share with the world.

THIS IS WHAT YOU NEED MOST RIGHT NOW

You need to find support. Surround yourself with kind of people that see the potential and the possibilities in you and believe in you. Find people who you can mastermind with and who support you, because they too want to find a divinely inspired path to realise their dreams. Learn to look at your business as a profitable business and find the ways to do marketing in a way, that feels natural to you and irresistible to you and your clients. Start a transformation to a person, that your life purpose is here asking you to become. Accept who you are and where you are, Get clear on what it is that you do, and where you want to go initially. That means understanding what makes you happy. Create a vision for yourself and start taking the steps to go forward by creating, innovating and following through. Gain strength from the support around you and celebrate your successes. And start living in your truth. Start living the way you know in your heart to be true.
